

Tenor Leslie W. Green is in high demand as a soloist in the Northwest and beyond. Praised for his effortless, stirring singing, he performs a wide variety of literature from Bach to contemporary art songs. Green has appeared throughout the Northwest with many of the finest ensembles.

He is a long-time member of Cappella Romana, performing on numerous concerts, tours and recordings with appearances in London, Netherlands, Belgium, New York, Boston, Washington D.C., Los Angeles, Chicago, San Francisco, Minneapolis and Vancouver, British Columbia. He has been fortunate to be the primary tenor soloist for several Bach Cantata series in the NW.

Highlights of Green's engagements include a wonderful concert at the Leipzig Bach Festival with additional concerts in Berlin, Potsdam, and Prague, two appearances at the Utrecht Early Music Festival in the Netherlands, a "brilliant and deeply emotional" performance of Elgar's The Dream of Gerontius, multiple recitals including an enthusiastically received performance of Schubert's landmark song cycle Winterreise, an "insightful and moving" turn as the Evangelist in Bach's St. John Passion, and numerous collaborations and premieres with many groups throughout the Northwest.

Les enjoys spending his workdays as an embedded IT specialist with the Shiley School of Engineering at the University of Portland and is thrilled to be a part of the Cathedral Choir at Trinity Episcopal Cathedral.
