

Sara Watts holds a Masters Degree from Manhattan School of Music where she studied with Raphael Bronstein and Ariana Bronne. While in New York City she played in orchestras and chamber groups, as well as doing commercial recordings. She has participated in summer festivals both here and abroad. After moving to Portland she has continued to perform and to teach.